FAMILY FIGHT.

Coady's Brother-in-Law Charged with Homicide.

a fractured skull on Saturday night

West Sixty-eighth street Station resuited in the arrest of Frank Mulcahey is charged with homicide.

Mulcahey was arrested on the strength of a story told by Lizzie Coady, the fifteen-year-old daughter of the dead man. She said her father, a marole worker, had broken his pledge when ner mother died two months ago. His favorite sister. Mary, was married to Mulcahey, and she complained that her hus-band abused her.

A week ago last Wednesday Coady, full of drink, went to the Mulcahey home to censure his brother-in-law. Lizzie rays Mulcahev resented his interference, and threats gave his wife a beating before him. A fight between the men resulted and when Coady came he was lying in the hailway.

back of his head, but went to work and remained working for a week. He was compelled to go to bed last Wednesday night. Neighbors sent for an ambulance. An examination by the hospital physicians showed that Coady's skull had been fractured. Coady left four children. The eldest, Thomas, is a private detective. Of the others Lizzie is fifteen, Delia thirteen and John ten years old. Mulcahey refused to make any state ment to the police.

Mrs. Mulcahy is a powerful young woman, the mother of six children. "My husband is a good man." she said "barring the fact that he has a high temper and gives me an occasional high temper and gives me an occasional licking. But he is a good provider, and I could stand for his beatings. My brother was a drunken 'bum.' He came here drunk last Wednesday week and my husband came hone at the same time.

"He was full, and I called him down for being in drink and he gave me a siap. Coady sprang at him, and the men fought it out. I ran out of the room. My mother saw it all until they fought their way out into the hall. I can't see how the licking Frank gave Tom could have caused his death after two weeks. I think he drank himself Tom could have caused his death after two weeks. I think he drank himself
